Harvesting Meets Many Delays As Wet Weather Continues

Rain and Lack of Repairs Cause Many Delays; Grain Badly Bleached

With rain every two or three weeks three and a half pounds, days causing many exasperating delays in harvesting operations all fall, this year's harvest has been a long, dragged-out affair and much grain is still standing or in the swath.

The many rainstorms have caused considerable bleaching and most of the grain now being received at the local elevators is grading 2 and 3 Northern. Many high yields have been reported but the average yield for the district will probably be a good 25 bushels to the acre.

Weather has not been the farmers' only big worry. The shortage of repair parts has caused many delays and work stoppages. Labor, too, has been scarce, and all these factors have combined to make the current harvesting season one of the worst in many years.

This seems to be a prolific year for big vegetables. Last week Mrs. W. Peters brought three potatoes, each weighing three pounds, into The Advocate office, and this week Bill Peters, not to be outdone by his good wife, presented the office with a carrot that actually weighs three and a half pounds. This monster would satisfy even "Bugs Bunny," the carrot-eating cartoon favorite.

Honors for growing the largest potatoes have passed from Mrs. Peters to Dan Watson, who farms twelve miles northwest of town. On Tuesday Dan brought in two overgrown beauties, one weighing two and three-quarter pounds and the other two and a half pounds. Who can beat this?

DR. MARY CATHERINE ARMEY

Two Vulcanites Graduate As Doctors, Edmonton

The first girl from Vulcan to graduate in the faculty of medicine, Dr. Mary Catherine Arme, has received the degrees of M.D. and B.Sc. at a special convocation of the University of Alberta, held last Saturday. Graduating at the same time with the degrees of M.D. and B.A. was Dr. Donald George Ulrich of Vulcan.

Dr. Arme, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arme, well-known oldtimers of the district, is a native daughter of Vulcan. She was born and received her public and high school education in the local schools.

After a well-earned vacation, Dr. Arme plans to return to Edmonton for a year as a senior interne, to prepare herself for post-graduate work.

Dr. Donald George Ulrich is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ulrich, old-time residents of Vulcan and well known throughout the district. He received his public and high school education in Vulcan. Dr. Ulrich is married, and his wife and baby daughter will accompany him to Victoria, B.C., where he will join the staff of the Royal Jubilee hospital as a senior interne.

Memorial Organ At United Church

A splendid new electric organ has recently been installed in the United church as a memorial to the adherents and boys of the congregation who died during the past war.

The organ is now in use and was purchased with funds raised through donations from the congregation and others who wished to pay tribute in this way to those who made the great sacrifice.

A dedication service, to which the public will be invited, will be held in the near future, and at this service a bronze plaque, bearing the names of boys of the congregation and adherents who died, will be unveiled.

Miss Grant also assisted the bride-to-be in opening, the attractively wrapped parcels. Pool and Park Funds Benefit From Successful Carnival

SUBSTANTIAL SUM RAISED

Despite bad roads, unfinished harvesting, and other detrimental factors, the jointly sponsored Elks and Lions fall carnival held in the skating arena last week-end attracted good crowds and realized a substantial net sum which will be divided between the Elks memorial park project and the Lions memorial swimming pool fund.

The carnival was again under the able direction of Floyd Atkinson and although crowds were only fair Thursday and Friday evenings, there was a real turnout Saturday night. The many games of chance and skill were kept busy and the jitney dance was well patronized.

Agricultural Show Winners
The agricultural show held in conjunction with the carnival offered prizes to girls and boys under 16 for the best group displays of vegetables. The exhibit entered by Florence Benoit was awarded first prize, second prize went to Johnny Hunter and the third prize was won by Blain Middleton.

Silverware Winner
Tickets have been sold during the past few weeks by the Elks and Lions on a chest of Lady Hamilton silverware and the draw to determine the winner was made at the carnival Saturday night. The lucky ticket holder was Mr. C. Hargbloom, a farmer of the district.

Six big door prizes were given away each night of the carnival.

Narrow Escape In Accident

Word has been received that Squadron-Leader and Mrs. Fred Craig and baby son, who spent a week in Vulcan recently with the former's parents and were returning to Halifax with friends by car, escaped death by a fraction, in a car accident in the United States.

The Craigs were all thrown from the car and their travelling companions, another R.C.A.F. officer and his wife and baby, were pinned in the front seat. All received injuries necessitating stitches and hospitalization and Mrs. Craig was the only one who retained consciousness and was able to tell police and doctors what had happened. The car was completely wrecked.

Champion Shower Honors Two Brides

Mrs. Jack Hildebrandt and Mrs. Fred Hildebrandt of Champion were joint hostesses on Saturday at a shower in honor of two brides-elect of the district, Miss Edith Lebsack and Miss Dilda Hiltz, whose weddings are coming events of the week.

Harmony school, east of Champion, pink and white being the color scheme used. Huge white beys were suspended from the ceiling directly over the guests of honor, who were showered with multi-colored confetti from the bells at the opportune time.

Miss Isabel McGaw and Miss Joyce Taylor sang "Always" as a duet and contests were enjoyed throughout the afternoon by the sixty guests. Decorated baskets, filled to overflowing with daintily wrapped gifts, were presented both of the honored guests making fitting replies. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by ladies of the district, at the conclusion of a pleasant afternoon.

Community Party At Champion For Campbells

Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell were honored guests of the Champion community on Monday evening, Sept. 30, when a host of their friends assembled in the community hall. Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening and music by the "Melo-D-Aires" and local talent was well rendered.

At midnight lunch was served in the banquet room and Mayor E. Griffin, as chairman, called on a number of friends for short addresses. Events of days-gone by were recalled, some amusing and others sentimental. Mr. Griffin, with well chosen words, presented the honored guests each with a purse of money on behalf of the people of the town and district. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, in response, said they knew that in the days to come there would be pangs of homesickness and an urge to see their friends and that Champion would always mean home to them. "Aul Laag Syne" and "They are Jolly Good Fellows" were sung and the guests then reassembled on the main floor. Mr. Campbell sang a solo, "I Love You Truly" and also a duet with Mr. P. Gatenby, much to the enjoyment of all. Dancing was resumed until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and their two children, Rita, Mrs. Andrew Anderson of Lethbridge) and Donald, now of Calgary, came to Champion in 1918 from Delia and have been in the general store business here until selling out recently. Mr. Campbell has been very active in community affairs and a leader in entertainment. An able vocalist, he has given freely of his services throughout the years. Mrs. Campbell, too, has been a leader in the community and her many thoughtful acts of kindness in hours of need will not soon be forgotten. Their host of friends regret their departure from Champion and wish them well.

Evangelistic Drive In Second Week

The Cays evangelistic meetings are progressing nicely at the Church of Christ, with increasing attendance and continued interest.

Last Sunday a large audience listened to Evangelist Cays on his chart sermon entitled, "Where Do You Live?" This forceful and descriptive analysis of life by Mr. Cays, as he explained his message by means of Bible and chart, brought much favorable comment from the audience. On Tuesday night, Mrs. Cays, who is a scripture elocutionist, gave her scripture recital on "The Life of Christ." This half hour of pure scripture from memory delighted the large audience.

One of the features of the campaign is the after-school meetings for boys and girls. Mrs. Cays conducts this feature with songs, choruses, scripture readings and drills and Mr. Cays gives his apt illustration of Bible themes. Evangelist Cays' subjects for next Sunday, Oct. 13, will be "Tragedies of the Lord's Supper" and, in the evening, a chart sermon entitled "The Most Important Question that Anyone Can Ever Ask."

HIGH COST OF LIVING

THE ordinary housewife does not pretend to know anything about economics. She just knows how much it costs to live, and whether her husband's take-home pay can stretch the full distance. She knows that the living cost index as published cheerfully from time to time does not actually reflect the increase in her bills for food and clothing. The High River housewife, for example, knows that approximately everything she has to buy has risen during war years, and still more noticeably since the war finished. Everything, that is, except bread, cereal products, gas, light and power. For these latter blessings she gives thanks.

This business of milk prices is her latest headache. She finds herself paying 4 cents more per quart, because of the withdrawal of the government subsidies. She personally has to put up the extra 4 cents, relieving the government of an expense that it has carried for the past five years. If she gets 3 quarts daily, she is paying 12 cts. extra per day that the government used to pay, or $43.80 extra a year. Assuming that total milk production in Canada is round 7 or 8 million quarts, the government has cut its expenditures by many millions by removal of subsidies.

What relief in taxation is going to be passed on to the taxpayer by this bit of saving? How is the housewife going to be compensated for this additional burden placed on her resources?

Someone has blandly suggested that this is what the family allowance was intended for, and that it will fully compensate for higher costs of milk. But milk is only one item of higher costs. Boots, coveralls, sweaters, bedding, flannels (if she can get them) practically everything that her children wear use or eat has gone hither higher, a little higher month by month. The baby bonus cannot begin to cover the higher costs of all these items, let alone improve the standard of living.

So the housewife wonders what steps the government is taking on her behalf. Is it checking strictly enough on the prices and quality and quantity of the clothing which she must buy? Is it permitting manufacturers to turn too largely to output on which there is no ceiling, to the neglect of needed goods on which there are still controlled prices, is there any adequate reflection of government saving in lightened income tax?

It is true that in certain occupational lines, wages and salaries have substantially increased, but even these have been whittled down by income tax deductions, unemployment insurance, etc., so that the take-home pay is not so increased. But there is another class, popularly known as "white collar workers." Their rate of pay has not begun to keep pace with the higher cost of living. These are people whose plight is growing serious. Their salaries range from $100 to $175 a month, and on that they are keeping families and probably trying to buy homes. How can they do it if cost of living is permitted to soar? That's what the housewife wants to know. She would like to make ends meet and put something away for the rainy day, but how can she do it

BECAUSE WE LIKE THEM

IT often seems that our invitations issued to American tourists to come to this country lack something in suavity. They verge on "Come up and spend your money here. We want your dollars." We might just as sincerely and much more graciously say "Come on up and see us. We enjoy your company." Instead, we dwell too much on the dollar.

There is, of course, always the danger of overplaying this business of friendly relationship, and the most dangerous people are the professional capitalists. Friendship and liking are something spontaneous and sensitive. They do not flourish through proclamation, and exploitation. In fact the more a thing is publicized, the more questioning the ordinary public becomes. Once you start saying: "Ours is a lovely and unbreakable friendship. Just look at us being friends," then the essence of that friendship is endangered.

Canadians and Americans do not visit each other, laugh together and enjoy each other's society because it is profitable or an example to other nations. It is just that they are the same kind of people, living in much the same environment, having the same standards, appreciations and enjoyments. Most of all they understand each other's jokes.

Quite aside from the financial aspect it is enlivening to see the cars from all the different States spinning along the roads. These are people interested and appreciative, so ready with praise for anything that appeals to them. It is always a temptation to pause beside an American car and ask "How are you doing in our part of the world?" And it is safe to say that no one is ever rebuffed who extends an interested greeting.

Americans have the art of the cheery word in passing and ready response. It is a light touch of general goodwill, undemanding and stimulating. It may be nothing more than a smile or a whimsical comment, but it is a happy hearted custom, expecting nothing but a little human kinship. We Canadians could do with more of it in ourselves.

We do like, and admire the comradely ways of our good neighbors from over the line, and their ready spontaneity. So why not place a greater emphasis on our enjoyment of their visits and less on the dollars they may leave with us?

on Russia as perfidy without parallel?

It is known now that Russian eagerness to get to Berlin first was actuated by Russian desire to seize incriminating evidence against herself, but there is enough evidence in American hands to make mockery of the claim that the pact with Hitler was only a time-killer.

Is that Polish delegate who fetches and carries for the Soviets old enough to remember that it was they who collaborated with Hitler in the dismemberment of Poland?

You can always tell what side a man is going to take when he starts a sentence with the words, "I hold no brief for so and so, but —"

Canadian labor parliaments in sessions assembled turned down resolutions to ban Communists from holding executive positions in their organizations and declined to disown the C.C.F. as their political arm. The work of reconciliation between their political arm and the Communists will now proceed, but reconciliation should also proceed between the sovereign body and some district labor councils whose members have taken declarations that they are not identified with the Communist or Fascist party in any way.

The Minister of Labor says that the C.I.O. directed eleven out of twelve Canadian strikes that have already lost $67,252 man-days to the country's reconstruction effort. Steel managers say that after their strikes are settled it will take months to get back to normal production. What do the men behind the strikes care for that? The longer the unemployment lasts the better pleased will be the Comintern which looks with satisfaction on the work of the C.I.O. to which Pravda recently referred approvingly as one of the democratic organizations that stands by Henry Wallace, who incidentally stands by Russia.

All the defendants charged with war atrocities denied any knowledge of them. If asked "do you know of them now?", they could respond with one accord and with truth, "Hanged if I do."

The Nuremberg trials were so fair and judicial that some of the rogues may feel the halter draw with good opinion of the law.

If the Paris Conference can come to agreement on agenda and procedure there is always a chance that it can agree on peace. The scientific explanation of nuclear energy usually leaves it unclear.

News of the cessation of strikes would be good news if it carried with it any assurance that the settlement will live out the life of the contract, but alas the elements behind the strife have more practical use for discord than for harmony.

The milk subsidy was an auxiliary to price control and no one who has been demanding removal of controls should find fault when decontrol sets in. The removal of the subsidy means only that we must pay the whole price directly to the dairies instead of paying a portion of it to them indirectly through the government.

Newspapers showing large families who would suffer were unfair in that before the subsidy was withdrawn the government had subsidized the large families sufficiently to enable them to buy unsubsidized milk.

The Nuremberg trials open a new chapter in criminal jurisprudence. They should be a warning to future aggressors and warners but the effect they have on present aggressors does not warrant much hope that they will. They are putting us through the same process now that the criminals at Nuremberg put us through. If we lose the next war it is the malefactors who will designate the aggressors, and they will define aggression as they define democracy.

The leader of the Ottawa squatters and his lawyer have been arrested. Now, what did they do that several union leaders overlooked in their defiance of the law?

Farm Fires From Eight Causes

Eight major causes of fire have been found on the farm so W. L. Clairmont, Dominion Fire Commissioner, Ottawa, reports. These are:

Defective chimneys and flues, sparks on combustible roofs, lightning, spontaneous ignition, matches, gasoline or kerosene heating equipment and electrical wiring. With just ordinary care, fires from these sources can be reduced or entirely eliminated, even from lightning. A well-rodded building is considered 99 per cent immune to lightning.

A farmer's greatest need is protection, both individually and on a community basis. He can supply his own individual protection by the provision of approved extinguishers, pails and barrels of water, hand pumps and ladders. With the development of motorized apparatus and god rods, he is in fair way to receiving protection on a community basis. Distance, however, is still a great disadvantage when it comes to providing rural protection.

Canada will observe Fire Protection Week, Oct. 6-12, and Mr. Clairmont recommends that this celebration be not mere lip service but that the farm folk study their own home and out building conditions and make sure that proper precautions are taken to prevent loss of life and property.

One of the points stressed is the dire need for every ounce of food that can be produced, stored and distributed and along with the protection of homes, the protection of all types of storage facilities is advised.

Canadians are fairly careful in respect of fires, yet last year, 52,173 fires in the Dominion cost 391 lives and $41,903,020 damage.

Sportsmen's Commandments

The Calgary Herald lists a few of the ten commandments which sportsmen should follow:

Shoot not thy gun toward cattle, swine or other livestock within one-fourth mile of thee. If thou shalt disobey this, the farmer will jab thy pants with his pitchfork till thou roarest for help and there after eat thy meals standing.

Take not thy gun by the muzzle to draw it toward thee; verily some foolish human may love thee and why shouldst thou die?

Thou shalt not carry thy gun cocked; verily, thou art a mighty hunter but the hides of thy friends will not turn away shot.

Climb not fences with thy gun in thy hands; put thy gun through first with the muzzle pointing away from thee and all living things; better it is to miss the chance at one bird than to return to thy house with guilt in thy heart and thy friend's leg in a basket; be thou most careful.

Verily, verily, I say unto thee, mix not thy alcohol with gunpowder.

Canada Delegates Survey Europe's Food Situation

Seventeen Canadian delegates have recently returned from a Press Conference at London, England. C. H. Hale, editor of the Orillia Packet, has sent out articles dealing with Empire press problems, and matters peculiarly of interest to the Empire newspapers.

He also has given information on the food situation in Britain and the continent as he observed it. Canada is greatly concerned in meeting European food shortages and has also many family ties that make the subject important. Extracts from Mr. Hale's comments are as follows:

"Certainly the press delegation did not suffer lack in quantity and variety but they were guests at big hotels, at official banquets and on railway trains which are said to serve the best meals in England. But even here there were hints of scarcity.

"During the month spent at Grosvenor House, one of the swell hotels of London, we got only one egg, which was deposited in our bedrooms and cooked, with ceremony, to order. I was only once offered roast beef at meals. On that occasion, the waiter announced he had two servings of beef to be divided between four of us. We were told that a waiter was liable to a fine of a pound if he served bread (rolls) without being asked for it. Sugar and butter were in limited quantities (though truth to tell, the servings of butter were not so skimpy as on the railway trains in Canada.) But these shortages were made up by abundance of unrationed food—fish of many kinds, including brook trout; game, chicken, venison and occasional lamb; hors-d'oeuvres of a dozen sorts and "sweets" (dessert) in great variety.

"On visiting friends outside of London, I was surprised to be offered eggs and butter in abundance. But in both instances I learned that the explanation lay in the fact there were family farm connections.

"Cod liver oil is served free to every child in Britain, orangeade is provided very cheap, and ample milk is made available. I was told that the war children are the healthiest and sturdiest generation Britain has ever known.

"The real difficulty lies with those adults who have to queue up for rations and live on them; particularly single persons living alone and doing their own cooking."

"Their fare is dull and unappetizing and since they are in the millions, the food situation may be said to be tense. Rationing of bread was deeply resented. Reduction in soap is another headache. Lack of fruit is a great deprivation and fruit was uncommon even in hotels.

In Germany

"The Germans we saw on the streets of Berlin (there were no crowds anywhere) appeared well fed and vigorous. But we were told that the people who are going down hill remain at home and are not visible. This is one of the problems. Up to ten years of age, the children are doing well, but boys and girls in their teens show lassitude from lack of proper nourishment. Infant mortality is high. Many babies, it was said, are allowed to die as soon as they are

Cause of Fires in Canada 1945

There were 52,173 fires reported in Canada in 1945 with a property loss of almost 42 million dollars.

Smokers' carelessness caused 17,582 fires resulting in over two million dollars loss.

Faulty stoves, furnaces and smoke pipes caused 5464 fires and brought 3 million dollars damage.

Electrical wiring and appliances were another frequent source of trouble causing 3534 fires at loss of $3,813,153.

Defective and overheated chimneys and flues caused 3708 fires with $1,424,113 loss.

Matches started 3044 fires with loss of $713,668.

Other causes were sparks on roof, hot ashes and open fires, petroleum oil lamps and candles, spontaneous ignition and incendiarism. Other miscellaneous reasons for fire were friction, fireworks explosions, hot grease, etc.

There were 5838 fires from unknown causes which brought over 18 million dollar loss to owners.

born. The women working in the streets, clearing up rubble, appear emaciated and forlorn.

"Altogether it was gathered that the food situation in Western Germany was grim, and that the trouble arose chiefly from lack of co-operation on the part of the Russians, who control the agricultural districts from which the country formerly drew its food, whereas the British zone is largely industrial, made up of city populations which the adjacent farms cannot support. The British Government are spending at the rate of £70,000,000 ($300,000,000) in providing their former enemies with food, and are pinching their own people to save the Germans from starvation."

Belgium Well Fed

"At a tourist hotel in Cabourg, a seaside watering place in Normandy, we were treated to a real French seven-course dinner. We had no opportunity of learning how the general population of France is faring. In Brussels, at the famous Palace Hotel, the meals were quite up to pre-war standard, and abundance of vegetables in the crowded morning market seemed to indicate that the Belgian people suffer no lack. In Germany, the party were served food drawn from British Army rations, which included delicious white bread, something not obtainable in England."

GENERAL

Q What are Canada Savings Bonds?

A Canada Savings Bonds are the successor to Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. They are your country's promise to return your money to you at any time and to pay you interest at an attractive rate.

Q Why are Canada Savings Bonds being offered?

A Because during the war, millions of Canadians learned the savings habit by buying Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. A recent survey shows that 82% of them want to keep on saving by a similar plan.

Q Is the Government selling Canada Savings Bonds just to raise money?

A No. Borrowing needs of the Government can be met by other types of loans. The main purpose of the Canada Savings Bond is to provide Canadians with a convenient way to continue this kind of saving and investment in peacetime.

Q Is there any limit to the amount of Canada Savings Bonds that one person may hold? If so, why?

A Yes. There is a limit of $2,000 for each individual, but each member of a family may hold bonds up to the limit.

Q What is the price of Canada Savings Bonds?

A 100%. That is, a $100 bond costs $100. If payment is not completed on or before November 15th, 1946, interest will be added to the purchase price.

Q In what denominations are Canada Savings Bonds available?

A $50, $100, $500 and $1,000.

CASHING OF BONDS

Q Can I cash my bond at any time before November 1, 1956?

A Yes, any branch in Canada of any chartered bank will cash your bond immediately at full face value, plus interest at 2 1/4%, upon your identification as the registered holder.

Q Can Canada Savings Bonds be assigned or transferred?

A They can be cashed, but not assigned or transferred. This is necessary to prevent any individual from acquiring more than the authorized limit.

INTEREST COUPONS

Q What interest is paid on Canada Savings Bonds?

A 2 1/4%—payable yearly on November 1st from 1947 to 1956, by coupon cashable without charge at any branch in Canada of any bank.

Q Are interest coupons registered?

A No. They are payable to bearer.

REGISTRATION PROTECTION

Q Why is it necessary to register Canada Savings Bonds?

A Registration gives protection in case your bond is lost, stolen or destroyed. It is also the simplest way to ensure that individuals do not hold more than the $2,000 limit.

Q In whose name can Canada Savings Bonds be registered?

A They can be registered only in the name of one individual, adult or minor, up to the amount of the authorized limit.

Q Can Canada Savings Bonds registered in the name of a child be cashed?

A Yes. Banks are familiar with the necessary regulations.

Q Can Canada Savings Bonds be disposed of when registered in the name of a deceased person?

A Yes, any bank will supply the necessary information.

Q Can I replace my Canada Savings Bonds, if they are lost, stolen or destroyed?

A Yes. It is wise, however, to keep Canada Savings Bonds in a safe place, as you would any other valuable documents. In case of loss you should immediately notify the Bank of Canada, Ottawa, of the circumstances.

HOW, WHEN AND WHERE TO BUY

Q Where can I buy Canada Savings Bonds?

A At any branch of a bank or from an authorized investment dealer, stock broker, trust or loan company—or through the payroll savings plan if this is in operation at your place of employment.

Q How do I pay for Canada Savings Bonds?

A In any of the following 3 ways:

1. By payment in full at time of purchase.
2. By monthly instalments through a bank, trust or loan company.
3. By regular deductions from pay, where employers operate the Payroll Savings Plan.

Why Not Worry If You Like It, Say Experts

An article "You too can be a nervous wreck" appeared in Good Housekeeping recently and was written by Frank Sullivan. It takes a nice view on the subject of worry, and bits of Mr. Sullivan's ideas are worth quoting.

"Why worry?" the optimists say. But I say "Why not worry?" Was there ever a time when there were such magnificent opportunities for fretting as there are today? Why not take advantage of them? Everyone owes it to himself to do a little worrying every day. Cross a bridge each day even if it's only a culvert. When a real bridge comes along you'll be better prepared to handle it.

"As a veteran trouble borrower and bridge crosser I want to set down a few rules that have contributed to my success as a worrier.

"First don't put off worrying. Don't say 'Well I won't worry today, I'm having too much fun. I'll worry tomorrow.' Tomorrow you may be having more fun.

"First of all, starting early in life, find out what type of worry suits your temperament and then stick to it. At the start you will be likely to tell yourself 'Now it's perfectly silly to be fuming about this, it's only a trifle.' That's not the spirit at all. You'll discover that you can extract capital worrying over trifles that at first seem to offer little opportunity. Have you tried worrying over something tactless or silly that you have said to a friend? Properly handled such a thought can ruin your day beautifully. Or whether he has said something intended to hurt you? The field is unlimited. Personally it appeals to the creative artist in me to mail a letter and then start worrying whether I put a stamp on it or addressed it correctly.

"But don't neglect the classic worries either, the old standbys such as the younger generation and the going-to-the-dogs of America. The Fate of Civilization is just like needlework. You can take it up and worry about it at odd moments. And don't neglect your health as a subject. You may think you are well now, but the chances are you are coming down with something this very moment. Just read a few medical books, I guarantee at least 50 symptoms. And if not your own health, how about family and friends. They don't look so well. I know a woman who has worried for 19 years about the health of her son, he's never had a pain nor an ache.

"Then don't forget to worry about money. The technique is positively Grecian in its simplicity. If you have none, all you have to do is worry about getting some. If you have lots, you worry for fear you may lose it.

"To recapitulate. Pay no attention to those who tell you not to worry. Let no day pass without crying over some spilt milk, if you have to spill it yourself just to keep your hand in. What do you think would happen to all great artists if they didn't keep in practice?

Sugar

The Globe and Mail, writing of the closing of the Wallaceburg sugar refinery, and the lack of incentive to Canada sugar producers, predicts that in 1947 Ontario sugar beet operations will fade out unless there is change of policy. United States has been increasing sugar beet subsidies, to encourage home growing.

"In Canada, however, the Dominion Government's policy is to subsidize imports and to hold ceiling even though it means that beet sugar output will lag further and good judges say its total extinction at present prices is imminent because of labor, supplies, packages and fuel have been increasing steadily.

"It is one thing to have a control board or a Decontrol Board standing out against efforts of groups to get prices which will give sky-high profits but it faces quite a different kind of crisis when continued losses at ceiling prices threaten to cause reduction in production of needed foods and other goods and materials. Canada's policy of depending more and more on imported supplies of a vital commodity like sugar is not a wise one while conditions are so disturbed as they are today. Strikes in Cuba for instance might threaten supplies and prices too. We need imports but a lively, growing industry is also needed for Canada and Canada will eventually be sorry if it is allowed to languish. Whatever else may be said in favor of price control, one of the deterrents is the rigidity which prevents a price increase sufficient to encourage production of an essential food right in the country where we would be sure of getting it.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Items From Bob Edwards' Inimitable "Eye Opener"

In the High River Eye Opener of April 4, 1904, Bob Edwards turns a disillusioned eye on all small towns. He fears High River isn't as fond of him as it should be. McEwen, the hypnotist read the horoscope of Peter McGonigle, and immediately started fleeing north. The editor reports the escape of Wall Eyed Pinto, the ferocious cayuse that lives on live grizzly and dynamite. When he squeals the sur turns red.

High River Eye Opener, April 4, 1904

Thankless Towns

Seeing we are in betting mood we will bet $125 that Camrose does not appreciate Captain Thomas' efforts to make the town a good business centre. These little towns are awful. Wetaskiwin threw us down. Leduc threw us down. Strathcona being dead anyway, merely shook its shrivelled finger at us. High River is beginning to act cool to us. Let's see, is there any other town we haven't tried. However, we had lots of fun, and the amount of good we tried to accomplish didn't wear anyone down.

McGonigle's Horoscope

Editor McGonigle of the Midnapore Gazette took a run up to Calgary last week to have his horoscope read by McEwen, the magic hypnotist. McEwen took the horoscope all right but made a lot of excuses about delaying delivery until he had left town and started for Edmonton. Since McGonigle has gone back to Midnapore, and McEwen has a good head start toward Edmonton, we have seen the horoscope. McGonigle will undoubtedly have one of his worst spells when he sees it, and McEwen had better start moving far beyond Edmonton. But it is true all right. Science makes no mistakes. The horoscope knows all.

A Stray Cayuse

Strayed—From the X ranch corral, a wall-eyed pinto broncho with Roman nose and lightning heels. The above animal is very valuable. It has two broken front teeth got by chewing railroad iron the time the big drought killed all the green fodder.

This broncho has a record of three busters killed outright, one missing, one chewed up so that he will never ride again, and several who left the country after the first time up. He has never been ridden longer than four seconds.

Also he has derailed two freight trains, wrecked one sawmill, and stampeded three camp meetings. Religious exercises are his long suit. He attends all outdoor services of this nature.

He has done only one good act in a long and sinful career, but he spoiled that one five minutes later. That was the time he kicked the side-out of the Two Ways mountain and uncovered a good pay streak but he kicked again shooting the pay streak into the setting sun and no one has seen it since.

He eats anything from frozen dynamite to live grizzly. When he kicks the gulch is full of heels. When he squeals the sun turns red.

When he departed he carried with him a section of the X ranch corral. This may still be attached to him.

He was to have been shot the next day with a pom-pom from the N.W.M.P. barracks at Calgary. His hide has been contracted for by the Hudson Bay Knitting Co. of Montreal as material for the famous hard-shell footwear.

Reward

Anyone returning said wall-eyed pinto to Dan Cashman of the X ranch, or the Hudson Bay Knitting Co. will be entitled to all the reward he can get. The owners refuse to provide ambulance or pay medical bills. They reserve the right to bury victims in their private cemetery which has been extended repeatedly in the last few years.

Warning

The public is warned against purchasing the said pinto as a pack horse or a quiet family driver.

The safest way to handle him is at 100 yards behind a rock breastwork, with a 30-30 Winchester magazine full, muzzle in line with Pinto's head. Then take good aim and don't stop till he's had all seven.

After that he may remain quiet long enough to get him out of his hide.

Anyone returning the hide can keep the rest.

The tail does not go with the hide. He wore it off switching rattlesnakes in the cactus plains of Texas before the big cyclone blew him north.

Senate Urges Immigration

The Senate Immigration committee has urged the government to start a vigorous policy of selective immigration and to comb Europe for those who could become assets to Canadian life. The United Nations Social and Economic Council hopes to develop a scheme by which Canada, United States and other newer lands will absorb some of the homeless Europeans.

The entry bars already have been partially lifted. In May, Resources Minister Glen announced the relatives of Canadians will be allowed to enter the Dominion from foreign countries, providing their Canadian relatives can support and house them. Since then, steps have been made to establish facilities for civil and medical examination in northern and southern Europe.

Another immigration project has been the government's decision to bring to Canada for farm

Canada's immigration regulations were amended in 1931 when, because of unemployment, almost unrestricted entry was limited to British subjects, United States citizens, fiancées of adult males resident in Canada and persons who, having entered the country as non-immigrants, had served and been honorably discharged from the Canadian forces.

WHAT'S BEHIND STRIKES (Stettler Independent)

When strikes were daily on the increase across the line a very few months ago, we, in Canada, were very optimistic in congratulating ourselves that we were quite free in Canada. That optimism has now given way to pessimism, and with some just cause. It looks very much as if these labor strikes which are supposedly called to enforce wage increases, are really caused by labor leaders who have an altogether different object in view. A better living for the working man is only the pretext that keeps their followers in line. Their main object is, obviously, aimed at the key industries that can do most to cripple the recovery of Canada following the war, when we expected prosperity would come, and should have come.

It is true that we should not be pessimistic, but when one looks over the names of these labor union leaders both in Canada and the United States, one can not help but think of Communism. Even the new Anglo-Saxon names among them have more than possibly been acquired quite recently, and have a very different look and sound to that they acquired after birth.

ACQUITTED ON AJAX, ONT., MURDER

Lorne Cecil Harris, RIGHT, shakes hands with his counsel, A. W. S. Greer, K.C., in Whitby, Ont., after he was acquitted on the charges of murdering 23-year-old Mrs. Audrey Lyons at Ajax, Ont., last Nov. 10. The jury deliberated for 3½ hours, returning with the verdict "Not

Machinery and Farm Prices

(From Lethbridge Herald)

The other day President J. S. Duncan of the Massey-Harris Company was in Calgary, and he made a statement to which the Alberta Federation of Agriculture has taken exception. Mr. Duncan is reported to have said that, as between 1939, the year the war broke out, and 1946, the prices paid for farm products stand at 180 while the price of farm machinery about which there has been some controversy following the W.P.T.B. allowance of a 12½ per cent price increase, stands at only 119. That is, farm prices have gone up 80 per cent since 1939 while farm machinery prices have gone up only 19 per cent.

The A.F.A. does not contradict Mr. Duncan's statement, admits it is quite correct. But the A.F.A. does properly point out that farm commodity prices were still unduly depressed in 1939 following ten years of depression. As a matter of fact the price of wheat in 1939 was 75 cents a bushel at Fort William, less than 60 cents to the farmer. But the price of farm machinery did not go down during the depression, or it went down very little. The price of farm machinery in 1939 was about the same as in 1926, which is the basic year upon which the statistics branch of the Federal Department of Agriculture bases all its index calculations now. And even in 1926, while the prices of farm products stood at 100 the cost of what the farmer had to buy stood at 120. Even in the base year the farmer was 20 points behind, in 1932, at the depth of the depression, according to the Department's figures the farmer got only 48.4 points for his products while he was paying 97.7 points for what he bought. Everyone knows that, even if the farm implement manufacturers were losing money in the depression thirties, it was because of lack of volume, not because machinery prices had been slashed. The machinery companies lost money because farmers could not buy at the terribly reduced prices for what they had to sell.

The Economic Annalist tells us that at the beginning of this year the farmer was getting 106.5 points for what he had to sell, based on 1926 equals 100, while he was paying 124.6 points for what he had to buy to stay in operation. That is the fair basis of comparison, not the 1939 figures used by Mr. Duncan, and the A.F.A. was entirely right in pointing this out.

NEWS OF INTEREST

PRICE DROPS

Hog prices dropped $2.25 per cwt. Oct. 2 on Calgary markets. The A.F.U. non-delivery strike is thought to be partly to blame, as hogs have piled up on farms, and will pour in when the strikes end. Previous prices had gone up to $20.50 per cwt. for Grade A and were result of hog scarcity on the markets.

NEW EGG CONTRACT

Canada's new egg contract with Britain is worth 80 million to poultry growers.

The two and one-quarter months steel strike has ended with 12,000 steel workers back to work. Workers get 4 cents an hour more than they did before, but it will take 1½ years to catch up on their wage loss when idle.

House Shortage And No Remedy

Writing in his column in the daily papers on the subject of housing, Capt. J. Harper Prowse, M.L.A., writes:

Everywhere I go in this province I hear the same kind of story on housing. Every mail brings in additional reports. Typical of these are father mother and two or more children all living in one room, or crowded in with in-laws. The ones I hear about are only the veterans, but there are a great many others just as badly off. Those who have managed to find suites report rents of $35, $40, $50 and more for unfurnished suites—many in basements or attics—many with shared bathrooms. And the incomes of these people average about $100 per month. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of veterans affairs, reports that a recent survey by the department revealed that 22,000 veterans are living under conditions which he describes as "very bad." This is a minimum figure.

A year ago the officials excused themselves by pointing out "there's been a war on." That wasn't an acceptable excuse then. It is no excuse at all now. The war has been over for more than a year and we aren't one bit nearer a solution to the problem, or is there any evidence of any real attempt to deal with it.

Building costs are high—too high for those people with incomes in the $100 per month bracket, which includes about 55 per cent. of the wage earners in this country, to build homes for themselves. They are also too high to permit private individuals to build homes which could be rented to these people at rents they can afford to pay—namely $20 per month and less.

There is only one answer to this—and that is a nationally subsidized housing scheme. It isn't new—it has been in force in every country in Europe including Britain since the last war. The United States has found it to be the only answer. It isn't revolutionary. It is just plain common sense, the only logical, rational answer. And if the men we have in Ottawa are too spineless to resist the powerful lobbies that oppose it, then it is time we got ourselves some new representatives.

Sh'd Apply For Baby Bonus

All those who have children under 16 years of age, but who have not yet applied for family allowances, are advised to make application at once. This is because the income tax revisions effective January 1 alter the situation in respect to family allowance.

Under this revision it is assumed that all taxpayers with children under 16 receive allowances, and the exemption for each child is fixed at $100.

Previously many taxpayers in higher tax brackets found no advantage in the allowances and did not bother to make application. But under the 1947 regulations the taxpayer is allowed a straight $100 exemption for each child under 16 years from his taxable income and may also receive full family allowance. Registration must be made before January. Payment of allowances starts one month after registration is made, but payments are not retroactive.

WORLD-WIDE COMMUNION

The world today is divided along many lines; nationally racially, economically, and religiously. But at the Table of our Lord we affirm that Christians in all parts of the world are essentially one in Him who has called them into His Fellowship. The observance of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper by Christians in many lands on October 6th will remind us that in a shaking world the Christian revelation remains unshaken, that the Eternal God reigns, that His truth is not subject to the vicissitudes of time or of scientific invention. All Christians should share in the recovery of this faith by joining in the Holy Communion service on Sunday.

WHY SOAP IS SHORT

(Ottawa Citizen)

The shortage of soap recently felt in Ottawa has driven a correspondent of the Evening Citizen to suggest that a system be set up to collect surplus fats from the public. This surplus, turned over to the makers of soap, might enable them to increase their supply to the shops.

Soap-makers, however, are not particularly short of fats and oils. They lack the other constituent of soap, the alkalis. They are now getting as much fats as at any time in the last six months, but the supply of soda ash and caustic soda has been sharply cut in the last few weeks by strikes at two chemical plants in Windsor. The Canadian Industries Limited plant there produce half the caustic soda made in Canada.

The fact that laundry soaps have fallen shorter than hand and bath soaps is due to their higher alkali content.
